There was no State and Territory breakdown for the distribution of Motor Vehicle Wholesaling enterprises in Australia. But like most industries, Motor Vehicle Wholesaling revenue and employment growth suffered in the immediate aftermath of the global financial crisis, and is only now beginning to stabilise after a few bumpy years. It is expected, however, that as passenger motor vehicle production in Australia begins to wind-down towards 2017, that motor vehicle wholesalers and retailers will experience positive growth. This is also forecast in figure 2 with an increase in the number of enterprises and businesses in the industry from 2016 onwards.
